VIOLENT RELAPSE FOLLOWS ADVANCE

Uncovering of Stop Loss Orders by the Bears Precipitates Disorder in Market.

order in Market.

NEW YORK, September 17.—An upward reaction in prices of stocks in the early part of to-day served to demonstrate that large speculative liquidation was awaiting to take advantage of the better prices. A violent relapse from the advanced level was the consequence. The movement of the early part of the day was greatly confused and baffled efforts to decide whether support for the market to facilitate liquidation was designed or whether attempts were making to accumulate stocks for a renewed upward turn. The market proved to be more homeycombed with stop loss orders than had been supposed and the bears had good success in uncovering these and precipitating some disorder in the effort to execute them. The supposition that high financial authorities were no longer committed to an opinion of unmixed confidence in the speculative outlook is sufficient ground to shake the sperulative fabric, as they have been credited with the largest part, both by advice and by action, in lifting prices to the level recently attained. Much attention was paid to the money situation as affected by the turn in the currency movement towards the interior. This development, whije not of formidable proportions, especially in view of the strong bank position, cannot be neglected as a factor modifying the late redundancy of the money market. The upward reaction carly to-day was due to a subsidence of yesterday's rumors of financial embarrassments, which had to do with affairs local to the Stock Exchange. with affairs local to the Stock Ex-

GREAT CIRCUS DRIVER

Whitey Montgomery, With Cole Bross, Handles a Twenty-five Horse Team. Many people will watch for "Whitey Montgomery when Cole Bross," elicus passes through the streets of Richmond next Tuesday. Whitey will be atop the big band-wagon that leads the procession, and will handle the ribbons of a twenty-five horse team. This driver is one of the most noted handlers of the ribbons in this country, and for at least one hour every day he manages 167 pounds of leather. Other drivers would require the services of an assistant while they rested from time to time, but Whitey has no need for assistants, and rarely, if over, allows his ribbons to drop from their regular position. If the average man were to handle the relins for one block his hands would be cut to the block his hands would be cut to the leaders measure just seventy feet, and each team of animals is harnessed with two relns. The ribbons on the heeders are naturally the shortest, but the entire handful is kept taut by the man on the box. Whitey is one of the few who remain at winter quarters during the cold weather, and he knows every one of the 306 horses by name. He has been in every city in the United
